Mr. PINKNEY,

IN theſe times, when greater exertions of public virtue are the more neceſſary to convince our enemies tha: the machinations of the venal and corrupt are of no force againſt the free-born ſons of America, to diſtinguiſh the baſe and unworthy from the honeſt and ingenuous, is, I think, a duty incumbent on every good member of ſociety. Whether doctor Pope deſerves to be ranked in the one claſs or the other, I leave the world to judge from a ſmall tranſaction it has been my lot to be concerned in with him. The matter was this: I brought ſome rum from the Eaſtern Shore to this city, for which I had a certificate, as directed by our act of aſſembly, which I thought ſufficient; I called at York in my way; the people there aſked me what I had on board? I told them rum; at what price I ſold it? I told them; no more paſſed; nobody there wanted rum; ſo I kept on my courſe to the capitol-landing.

A day or two after, while I was landing my rum, doctor Pope came up, accompanied by Abraham Archer, boarded my veſſel, threatened to ſeize her for want of a permit, and compelled me not only to go down to York to get a permit, which might, I thought, be given here then, but alſo to pay his and Mr. Archer's expences that day in this city. The ſubjoined receipt will confirm the latter part of my charge, and as to the reſt there were ſpectators enough to bear teſtimony of the doctor's conduct. After this ſtate of facts, I leave the public to pronounce ſentence on this active government tool, and only wiſh that hemp may bind thoſe whom honour cannot.

WILLIAMSBURG.

ON Wedneſday the 13th inſtant a ſloop belonging to captain Mallory, and a ſchooner belonging to captain Brown, bound to Smithfield, from ſea, were taken by a tender, when put a midſhipman, two ſailors, and a negro pilot on board, with orders to carry them to Norfolk; but laſt night the captains of the veſſel, by a promiſe of 43 dollars, and a paſſage back, prevailed on them to join them in re-taking the veſſels, which they accordingly did, and have now got them within the creek, with two thouſand buſhels of ſalt on board.

Whilſt captain Morgan Alexander was at Fredericksburg with his company of riflemen, ſeveral of them were enticed on board a ſmall veſſel in the river, treated with grog and oyſters, and invited by the ſkipper, one Dow, a SCOTCHMAN, to enliſt under lord Dunmore. He promiſed them a free paſſage, and told them that the regulars had 4 white ſhirts a year, and 3s. 6d. ſterling a week, and to intimidate them, told them there were coming over immediately 40,000 Hanoverians, Ruſſians, and Engliſh. The ſoldiers ſoon appeared diſcontented, and almoſt mutinied; two deſerted, and upon enquiry, the author of the miſchief was found out, the men ſatisfied, and the villain confined, and nt down, under their cuſtody, to the convention, to be dealt with according to his deſerts. This is a freſh inſtance of the activity of our arch enemy lord Dunmore.

Colonel Howe and colonel Woodford have entered Norfolk with their forces. Lord Dunmore had abandoned the town, and ſeveral of the tories had fled on board their veſſels, with all their effects; others of them are applying for forgiveneſs to their injured countrymen.

A correſpondent, on whoſe information we may depend, informs us that our ſoldiers ſhewed the greateſt humanity and tenderneſs to the wounded priſoners. Several of them ran through a hot fire to lift up and bring in ſome that were bleeding, and who they feared would die, if not ſpeedily aſſiſted by the ſurgeon. The priſoners expected to be ſcalped, and called out, FOR GOD'S SAKE, DO NOT MURDER US. One of them, who was unable to walk, calling out in this manner to one of our men, was anſwered by him, put your arm about my neck, and I'll ſhew you what I intend to do. Then taking him with his arm over his neck, he walked ſlowly along, bearing him up with great tenderneſs to the breaſt-work. Captain Leſlie ſeeing two of our ſoldiers tenderly removing a wounded regular from the bridge, on which he lay, ſtepped up on the platform of the fort, and bowing with great reſpect, thanked them for their kindneſs. Theſe are inſtances of a noble diſpoſition of ſoul. Men who can act thus muſt be invincible.

On the 28th ultimo died, at Ware glebe, Mrs. Alice Fontaine, wife of the reverend James Maury Fontaine. She was pious, grateful, ſincere, affectionate, diſcreet.

We learn, by an expreſs, that captain Baron had yeſterday taken two veſſels loaded with ſalt, one containing 2400 buſhels, and the other 1200; that there had likewiſe been taken a tender, with 17 men on board.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman of the continental congreſs to his friend in this city.

"One of our armed veſſels has taken an Engliſh ſtore ſhip, coming with all the implements of war (except powder) to Boſton; ſhe is worth about 30,000l. ſterling, as general Waſhington informs us, and the ſtores are adapted to his wants as perfectly as if he had ſent the invoice; they have alſo taken two proviſion veſſels from Ireland to Boſton. A forty gun ſhip blew up the other day, by accident, in the harbour of Boſton. Of a certainty, the hand of God is upon them. Our laſt intelligence from Arnold, to be relied on, is by letter from him; he was then at Point Levy, oppoſite Quebec, and had a great number of canoes ready to croſs the river. The Canadians received him with cordiality, and the regular force in Quebec was too inconſiderable to give him any inquietude. A later report makes him in poſſeſſion of Quebec; but this is not authenticated. Montgomery had proceeded in queſt of Carleton, and his ſmall fleet of 11 pickeroons, then on Lake St. Francis. He had got below him, and had batteries ſo planted as to prevent his paſſing; it is thought he cannot eſcape their vigilance. I hope lord Chatham may live till the fortune of war puts his ſon into our hands, and enable us, by returning him ſafe to his father, to pay a debt of gratitude. The congreſs have promoted brigadier general Montgomery to be a major general, and, on being aſſured that Arnold is in poſſeſſion of Quebec, it is probable he will be made a brigadier general, one of thoſe offices being vacant by Montgomery's promotion."

By the lateſt prints from England we can, with pleaſure, inform our readers that lord Chatham is ſo well recovered as to propoſe conſtant attendance in parliament the enſuing ſeſſion.

To be SOLD on Thurſday the firſt day of February, at the town of Mancheſter, commonly called the Rocky Ridge, FALMOUTH, December 4, 1775.

This will prevent any diſpute that might ariſe with Mr. Colquhoun in the collection, and is a piece of juſtice due by the debtors for the credit allowed to them.

RICHMOND, November 6, 1775.

I HAVE cauſe to ſuſpect that a certain James Digin, who ſays he is a Baſſonian, hath made his departure with a bay horſe, about 4 feet 8 inches high, with a hanging mane and ſwitch tail; three or all of his feet are white, and part of his legs; he has a ſtar or blaze in his forehead. I do not know whether he is branded; if he is, the letters are S D; he gallops well, and wriggles his tail when he firſt ſets off, which is generally with his right foot foremoſt, and is about ſix years old. Digin is about 5 feet 10 inches high, with remarkable black eyes and hair, has a down-caſt look, and a habit of leering, with yellow teeth, and one more prominent than the reſt; he is much addicted to telling improbable things. His dreſs was a ſky blue coat, the buttons of which had loſt their tops, and had wax ſubſtituted, a pair of dirty leather breeches, a maccaroni hat, and a ſhirt with ſhort ruffles. The horſe he borrowed of me to go to Williamſburg, for books of ſalmody, and other things, the 18th of October laſt, and to have returned home in three days. Whoever ſecures the flat, and will give me intelligence, ſo that I get her again, ſhall be handſomely rewarded.

LOST laſt night, between Mr. Burwell's and Gloceſter town, a horizontal gold WATCH, which runs on a diamond, the maker's name Toolman, number forgot; it has a remarkable neat china dial-plate, the outward caſe a compoſition reſembling tortoiſhell, but much broken and defaced, a ribband ſtring, and key only annexed to it. Whoever has found the ſaid watch, and will deliver it to Mr. Burwell, ſhall have 5s. reward, and no queſtions aſked. If it ſhould be offered for ſale, it is hoped that it will be ſtopped, and information given; for which kindneſs the above mentioned reward will be thankfully paid.

STRAYED or ſtolen from the ſubſcriber, in Williamſburg, a ſmall ſorrel mare, between 13 and 14 hands high, upwards of 3 years old, neither docked nor branded, and is lame in one of her hind feet, owing to the ſinews being cut by a glaſs bottle juſt under the footlock. Julius Dean's general character is ſo bad that in all probability the mare may not belong to himſelf. The owner is deſired to pay charges, and take her away. 1 BAIRNE PREE.

THE plantation, house, and all convenient outhouses, an exceeding fine peach orchard, where I now live, lately occupied by William Goodall, deceased, to be sold. He also cures the scurvy in the gums, and is well perswaded he can cure the dropsy and consumption, if timely applied to; also cancers. The subscriber makes use of but very few medicines, except what he makes himself.

SIXTEEN DOLLARS REWARD.

RAN away last night, from Marlborough iron works, two English convict servant men, imported last summer, and a country born negro, viz. Charles White, by trade a stocking weaver, born in Rutlandshire, about 28 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches high, slim made, short dark brown hair, pug nose, high cheek bones, sallow countenance, having had the flux lately, and his hands broke out in biles; had on, or took with him, a small felt hat, an old black cloth coat, old brown cloth breeches, mottled worsted stocking, two shirt and trowsers, and new shoes with carved metal buckles. James Leighton, born in Cambridgeshire, about 20 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, strong and clumsy made, swarthy complexion, full face, thick lips, grey eyes, and straight hair; had on a small felt hat, brown cloth jacket, with sleeves, tow shirt and trowsers, and good shoes, tied with strings. Negro man named Will, about 20 years of age, 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, slim made, large eyes, and shews the whites of them much; had on an old cloth coat, tow shirt, old oznabrig trowsers, good shoes, tied with strings, and had about his neck an iron collar, with the horns cut off, being a notorious runaway, and much given to drinking. It is probable they may change their dress, as they are supposed to have stolen the following articles, viz. a dark brown cloth coat, with plated buttons, an old ash coloured duroy coat, black velvet jacket, with leather pockets, a new ash coloured cloth jacket, with high topped horn buttons, a pair of light coloured Germantown stockings, a pair of white cotton ditto, a fine shirt, two fine shifts, and a check apron. White has been heard to say some atrocious things in respect to the dispute between Great Britain and the colonies, from which it is suspected they may part, and some of them make to seaports. Whoever secures the said servants, so that I get them again, shall receive eight dollars for each of the white servants, and what the law allows for the negro.

He has a flat face and long head, which is remarkably sharp on the top. His clothes were such as is common for working negroes, and he was seen going down the country. Whoever will secure the said negro, so that I get him again, shall have a reward of FORTY SHILLINGS, besides what the law allows.
